Season's Work.The Bloomfield Base-ball Club will close the season this afternoon on the Williamson oval, having as their opponents the strong Carlstadt A. C., champions of Bergen county.The Carlstadt club will be strengthened for this game, having filled several of their positions with Hudson River League players. This club has defeated the Montclair A. A. and other good teams, and a great game is expected and should be witnessed by a large number of spectators. Larry Hesterfield will pitch for Bloomfield and Burdette will catch, while Carlstadt will present a Hudson River League battery. Game called at 3.15.The Broughton M. C. defeated the Watsessing A. C. at the Bay avenue grounds last Saturday by the score of 6 to 4. The Watsessings started with a rush in the first inning, but after that they never saw home plate. The feature of the game was a catch of a liner by F. Openshaw of the Broughtons in the last inning when Watsessing had two men on base. This was turned into a double play and ended the game.

The Broughton Memorial Base-ball Club closed its second season last Saturday. The team has played throughout an excellent season and has defeated a number of the leading teams in its class in the county. Most of the games have been close and exciting. There have been three extra-inning games in which the Broughtons were victorious in two. The club has won three games by one run, three by two runs, and three by three runs. When the team was defeated it was generally by large scores on what seemed to be decidedly off days, except in one game with the Commonwealth club, which was lost by one run.Much of the success of the team was due to the amiability of the players who were always willing to do anything for the good of the team. The battery, T.
Flanagan and R. Garner, did good work and were well supported by brilliant fielding in tight places. October Garner suffered from misfortune in having his right hand split between the third and fourth fingers on the first of September and also again in the same place in the last game on Saturday. During his absence his place was filled for by W. Cokelair the regular first baseman of the team. Below is the team's record:

Served Them Right.

There have been a number of hold-ups by highwaymen in this vicinity and elsewhere of late, but they sometimes attack the wrong man. Samuel Morris, who is an old-time circus man, but now employed on a farm a few miles north of Cedar Grove, was ordered early on Saturday morning last by two highwaymen at a lonely spot on the mountain road to hold up his hands. He obeyed with alacrity, but he first clinched his fists. As his hands flew up they caught the two men under their chins and toppled them over on their backs.
Morris then played "crouching" with the men. He seized one by the shoulders and whirled him around, knocking his companion down every time he attempted to get up. He kept this up until he was tired, and his assailants fled in dismay.
Morris says that the exercise did him good, and made him feel at least ten years younger.Musical Instruction.

Congressman Parker's Acceptance.

The nomination of Congressman R.
Wayne Parker to succeed himself in Congress was eminently satisfactory to the majority of the Republicans in the Seventh Congressional District. In his acceptance of the nomination Mr. Parker said in part:"In my Congressional life, since 1895, the problems of legislation have been so many, vast, important and new that they cannot be counted now. They were problems of finance and currency, revenue and protection, war and peace, inter-state capital and labor, between the unlawful monopoly called the trust and the independent dealer, even involving the regulation of the great system of transportation of the whole country."In all these problems I have felt it my duty, by voice and act, to uphold and advance the policies of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. Let no man deceive himself. It is not a battle, this campaign, between Republicans and Democrats. It is between those who would uphold and maintain and those who would break down and destroy, between Roosevelt and Bryan.
"I am for the Republican platform of protection by a tariff created and revised from time to time by its friends, as need may be proved, and with care that no stone shall be carelessly removed from the edifice in which we live so as to endanger other stones that rest on it, and thus bring down the house about our ears."I intend in the future, as in the past, to be a defender of the civil service; to see that it is strictly enforced so far as my influence will extend; to recommend the best men for office, without regard to political results, and to devote my whole powers of mind and heart to the welfare of the greatest republic that the world has ever known."

Montclair Horse Show.

Montclair's first horse show, which was held on the field of the Athletic Club of that town on last Saturday, was a decided success, and was attended by about three thousand leading residents of Montclair, Glen Ridge, the Oranges, this town, and other places. Several parties drove over from Montclair in tally-hoes. The athletic field presented a beautiful sight, with the gay costumes of the women and the green lawn for a background. The affair was a ribbon show and by invitation only. All the expenses were paid by Oliver Wrenn, private secretary to Charles M. Schwab, Leroy Chinn and Andrew Morrison, business men of New York. The use of the athletic grounds was given free by the club. There were 100 entries in the twelve events and more than sixty traps.
All the classes were exhibited promptly on time, and some fine displays were made. As a finale there was address prepared by about fifty men of the Essex Troop, in command of Captain William A. Bryant. In the drill which followed Lieut. Cortlandt Parker, Jr., received a blue ribbon for having the best troop horse, and also a silver mounted blackjack. The red ribbon went to Trooper H. G. Stevens, and the yellow ribbon to Corporal P. W. A. McMahon. Ribbons were also given to various parties, including three to horses from the stables of Sydney J. Holloway of West Orange.
A silver cup, the only prize awarded by the management, was given for a fine display of three horses by the Montclair fire department.

Will Support the Straight Ticket.

Assemblyman Charles B. Underwood entertained the members of the Executive Committee of the local branch of the Limited Franchise and Equal Tax League at his home Monday night, when the business pertaining to the primary campaign was settled up. Mr.
Underwood extended thanks to the members of the committee for the work they had done in his behalf. He spoke of the Republican nominee for Assembly, Daniel Schieleh, in highly complimentary terms and urged all present to loyally support Mr. Schieleh at the polls in November.Primary and election affairs were a general subject of discussion, and all present pledged themselves to use their best efforts for the success of the straight Republican ticket for Congressman, Assemblyman and town officers on election day.

To Start Knox Hall.

The board of directors of the German Theological Seminary, at a meeting Tuesday authorized the building committee to have plans prepared for the proposed Knox Hall, which will be erected at a cost of $50,000 as a memorial to the late Rev. Dr. Charles E. Knox, for many years president of the seminary, and a former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

ROWDYISM ON THE CARS.

Passengers Insulted and a General Panic Created—Conductor Stabbed—Other Incidents.It would seem as if some drastic measures ought to be adopted to prevent the frequent outrages on the Bloomfield avenue line of trolley cars. We have frequently chronicled the fact of rowdy-ism on the cars between here and Newark, and numerous arrests have heretofore been made by the officials of this town, but the most outrageous affair yet enacted occurred about 8 o'clock last Friday night. It appears that a lot of Newark hoodlums who have been responsible for the numerous disturbances in and near Branch Brook Park, in the vicinity of Clifton and Eighth avenues, Newark, during the past summer, have transferred their operations to the trolley cars along Bloomfield avenue. They stoned two cars on the night above mentioned, breaking windows and saab's, stabbed the conductor on one of the vehicles, and one passenger received a wound in the head.The gang, variously estimated at from sixty to eighty strong, was armed with clubs, knives and obblstones, and for more than half an hour the rowdies had things their own way. With the exception of John Clark, twenty-six years old, of 68 Hartford street, Newark, the members of the gang got away before the reserves of the Fifth Precinct of that city arrived at the scene of the disturbance. He was arrested and looked up, and the next morning he was fined $10 on a charge of disorderly conduct.The man stabbed was Thomas Keogh, twenty-five years old, of Politer street, Newark, conductor of the car which the rowdies boarded between Seventh and Eighth streets, bound for this town. He showed a wound on his right forearm in court the next morning.The other man hurt was John W. Dawson, colored, of Newark, who was on the back platform of Keogh's car. A obblstone struck him on the back of the head, knocking him unconscious. He was taken to Dr. Levi W. Case's office in Montclair. Other stones landed inside the car, hitting other passengers, but without injuring them severely.After Dawson's wound was sewed up he was able to go home. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the youth who stabbed Keogh.It was nearly 8 o'clock Friday night when Keogh's car was halted at Seventh street, Newark, and about twenty of the gang, whose ages ranged from eighteen to thirty years, got on. They were bolderous and took possession of the car, brushing by passengers who stood on the back platform. There were about thirty other passengers, most of them women, inside. At Eighth street the balance of the disturbers got on, and things became lively when the crowd got together. They began to pull the bell ropes and trolley pole, and otherwise annoy the conductor and passengers.
Keogh showed his way to the front of the car and attempted to collect fares.
Each man referred him to another for the money, and the car reached the crossing of the Orange branch of the Erie Railroad in this town. Several times it was stopped and Keogh attempted to quiet the disturbers.At the railroad crossing the rowdies got off and began throwing stones. One of them pulled down the trolley pole, Keogh got off to readjust it, when he was set upon by the gang. He fought until one, whose name is said to be Kane, pulled a knife and slashed him.
Dawson by this time had been laid low with a stone, and the roughs ran away.
Keogh rushed his car to Montclair with Dawson, who, it was thought at first, had a fractured skull.In the meantime some one who saw the first of the disturbances had notified the Fifth Precinct police of Newark, and the reserves were sent to the city line.
Word was also telephoned to our police that the rowdies were on their way to this town. Chief Collins and Policemen Drew and O'Neill of this place had already been called to Longlotto's Hotel in Orange street, where the gang attempted to take possession of the dance hall. Before the police arrived the men had dispersed and were on their way back to Newark.The gang was going along Bloomfield avenue when a car going toward Newark was held up by it. When the car was stopped the members began to taunt the passengers and the conductor. Aaron Hill, a detective employed by the Public Service Corporation for just such cases, was riding on the car. He waded into the gang with his revolver drawn and disarmed them, making Clark a prisoner. Clark, he said, threw a obblstone at him, which crashed through the rear vestibule of the car. The Fifth Precinct reserves of Newark, on their way to the city line, reached the scene of the second disturbance while Hill was struggling with Clark and arrested him.In the Second Precinct Court the next morning Clark denied throwing the stone. He declared that he was not a member of any gang, and said he was "just looking on" when arrested. Keogh appeared later before Recorder Oadum of this town and swore out a warrant for Kane's arrest.

nees for Local Offices—Complete Republican Ticket Now in the Field—Several Vacancies in Democratic Ticket to be Filled by a Committee.Republicans and Democrats have nominated their local tickets, and before the time closes for filing nominations there is likely to be an independent local ticket in the field.The Republican Town Convention was held in Building and Loan Hall Friday evening last, and the following nominations were made: For Mayor, William P. Sutphen; Town Clerk, Frederick K.
Gaba; Collector of Taxes, Frank Foster; member of the Board of Assessors, Thomas Rawson, Jr.In addition to the above names the straight Republican ticket will bear the names of R. Wayne Parker for Congress, Thomas McGowan for member of the Board of Freeholders, and the Assembly nominees.In the First ward the Republican ticket will bear the name of Charles J.
Murray for Council, Charles Madole for Board of Education; in the Second ward, August Fredericks for Council, William A. Baldwin for Board of Education; in the Third ward, Charles H. Hildebrandt for Council, George E. Bedell for Board of Education.The Democratic Town Convention was held Wednesday night. Dr. W. F. Harrison was nominated for Mayor, William K. Johnson for Town Clerk, Samuel W.
Boardman, Jr., for Justice of the Peace; for constables, Daniel Malague, Henry G. Ave, J. Gilbert Smith and John Ben-sing. Frank Foster and Thomas Rawson, Jr., Republican nominees for tax collector and assessor, declined to permit the use of their names on the Democratic ticket. Thomas McGowan was endorsed for member of the Board of Freeholders. In addition to the local nominees the Democratic ticket will bear the names of Dr. Oas, F. Kraemer for Congress and the Democratic Assembly nominees, and in the First ward the Council nominee may be Charles J. Murray by endorsement. In the Second ward Frank B. Daily is the regular Democratic nominee, and in the Third ward the regular Democratic nominee is Frank N. Usang.There is much talk about a third local ticket being placed in nomination, and to be called Independent Republican.
The election on Tuesday, November 6, is going to result in a liberal use of posters, and particularly so if a third local ticket is nominated.

Case of Glanders.

A sorrel horse, about 12 years old, which had been purchased by Louis Thompson from the proprietor of Wheeler's, which was here last week, was found to have glanders in its worst stage, and Dr. R. O. Antepoon shot it Sunday afternoon in Glenwood Park, where it was allowed to roam.Health Inspector Joseph O. Sallie, who was made acquainted with the facts, had the water in the public troughs in the town shut off, for the reason that the horse, together with several others belonging to the circus, had been watered several times at the fountain in the Centre. The State Board of Health was notified of the case, and its officers were trying to locate the circus people, who were last heard of in Millburn.Thompson purchased the diseased animal for $3, and borrowed the money at the time to grab the "bargain."

In Favor of Public Play Ground.

The committee of fifteen named by the Board of Trade to consider the advantages of purchasing the Williamson avenue tract for play grounds met in the Building and Loan Hall Tuesday night and appointed a sub-committee, composed of Joseph M. Mann, George Morris and Charles B. Underwood, to prepare a set of resolutions to be presented to the Town Council favoring the purchase of the land.Theodore T. Maxfield has shipped his brown mare Nellie B. to Richmond, Va., to exhibit in the horse show in that city next week, and in the show at Norfolk a week later. Nellie B. won a blue ribbon and a silver cup at the Richmond (Station) show. Mr. Maxfield was the only one out of Montclair who won a prize in the Montclair horse show last Saturday. His black gelding, Tontine, won the blue ribbon in the class B, gentleman's roadsters.Case Dismissed.
The case of Abraham Swanton of Glen Ridge against Special Policeman Edward Shorter, whom he accused of assault and battery, was dismissed by Recorder Oad-um Monday night, on the ground that there was not enough evidence to convict him. The testimony of the complainant's witnesses, the recorder declared, was very conflicting. Thomas A. Davis of Orange represented Swanton, while Herbert Dare looked after Short-er's interests. The papers will now go before the grand jury.

A matter of interest to parents is the following circular letter recently received by the superintendents of schools:To County and City Superintendents: At a meeting of the State Board of Education, held October 2, 1906, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Where schools do not have regular half-day classes, the rainy day session may be length of the usual morning session.
C. J. BAXTER,
Secretary.Heretofore in order to comply with the school law it has been necessary for the local school authorities to detain the children until 1 o'clock, thus disarranging the plans for the noonday meal at home; but the adoption of this resolution makes it possible to dismiss for the rainy day session at the usual time, viz.: Elementary schools, 11 o'clock; High School, 12.15.The increase in the number of children on the roll in the public schools for the month ending September 31, 1906, over Took Goats in Custody.

An Italian from the Silver Lake District came to the police station Tuesday morning and asked Police Chief Collins to imprison six goats which he had with him. The man said that the goats, which belonged to his neighbor, had eaten all his cabbage and other garden products and he wanted the animals locked up until the owner paid the damages. Chief Collins suggested that the Italian lock them up in his own cellar until the owner settled. This he said he would do, and he marched off with the animals.

Stole Canned Goods.

A small grocery store conducted by William Levanduskie at 291 Franklin avenue was entered by thieves early Thursday morning and a quantity of canned fruit was carried away. Levandus-kie heard the thieves at work and ran downstairs, revolver in hand. The men, two in number, heard him coming and ran out and leaped into a wagon and drove off. Levanduskie fired two shots after them but they escaped in the gloom.

Trolley Car Hit Wagon.

Henry Laycock, accompanied by William Isaac, both of Brookside, drove to Newark on Saturday night, and on their way home at Eighth avenue and John street in that city the vehicle in which they were seated was struck by trolley car No. 156 of the Mt. Prospect avenue line, and Isaac was hurled into the street and painfully hurt. Laycock was thrown into the bottom of the wagon and sustained severe injuries to his back. The car was moving slowly at the time and the wagon was not broken.
